

ASAN

AUTISTIC SELF ADVOCACY NETWORK

Burton Blatt Institute
SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

Developmental Disabilities
Planning Council

Easy Read Edition

Barriers to Gender Affirming Health Care

Part 15: Conclusion

Conclusion

Getting gender affirming care should not be this hard.

Transgender and nonbinary people should not have to fight for gender affirming care.

Transgender and nonbinary people should not have to do this much work to get care.

Transgender and nonbinary people face many barriers to getting gender affirming care.

This is not fair.

This is not right.

These barriers do not need to exist.

Together, we can push for changes that make gender affirming care easier to get.

Together, we can fight for the rights of transgender and nonbinary people.

This project was supported, in part by grant number C00018GG, from the U.S. Administration for Community Living, the Department of Health and Human Services, Washington, D.C. 20201 through the New York State Developmental Disabilities Planning Council (NYS DDPC). Grantees undertaking projects with government sponsorship are encouraged to express freely their findings and conclusions. Points of view or opinions do not, therefore, necessarily represent official ACL policy or the opinions, interpretation or policy of the NYS DDPC.